

COMING SOON..... The Farmers Wagon

The Farmers Wagon will be located on West Main Street in the village of Metamora. This is the brick, 2 story building that has been vacant for several years, formerly where the Pizza Pro and other businesses were located.

Owners, Cheryl Robison and Jeff Truckor say it all started with a dream to find businesses to help grow and improve the Village of Metamora, where Jeff was born and raised and has been a farmer for several years with his father, Larry and his son, Brandon. They feel this will be the missing link to the small community enhancing the otherwise rundown area of Metamora. This will ensure growth in the community offering employment and new business opportunities for entrepreneurs. The charm of the rustic, old brick building built in 1925, will also be taken inside during renovation. The priority will be opening the Wagon Wheel Java & Creamery and renovating the upstairs first. In the coffee shop, they plan to carry specialty coffee that includes their own custom blend, teas, and ice cream from an Ohio based creamery, along with a few other items we know community members will enjoy. They are very excited about having a coffee shop close by, after all coffee shops offer a place for friends gathering, business meetings, and moms just needing a break. This is sure to be the atmosphere no one else has.

We do not want to give away all our secrets just yet, but down the road, one part of the building will have salon suites and the plan is to bring in businesses that fill a need in our village. Jeff and Cheryl do not want to compete with the other thriving businesses in town so they will be filling those spots with businesses and services useful to the community.

Jeff and Cheryl also plan to donate an office area upstairs to the Metamora Chamber of Commerce that Jeff Truckor started in Metamora to help bring the community and businesses together to promote support and growth for the village. This will include space for business incubation and co-working opportunities.

Please stay tuned for more information on renovations and grand openings!
